Haitham Al Ghais, OPEC Secretary General.

I am pleased to present the 60th edition of OPEC's Annual Statistical Bulletin (ASB). It is a welcome coincidence that the ASB's landmark achievement celebrating six decades of success comes as we also celebrate OPEC's 60th anniversary of being based in the beautiful city of Vienna.

The ASB is one of OPEC's flagship annual publications, along with the World Oil Outlook and the Monthly Oil Market Report. Its yearly round-up of critical oil and gas data and statistics has become a reputable and trustworthy industry standard, much esteemed by global energy stakeholders across the entire value chain.

At OPEC, data is vital for the Organization's oil market analysis and forecasting, and we constantly strive to ensure the highest level of accuracy in all that we do. This enables us to make educated and informed decisions based on verifiable facts and figures. We cannot and do not rely on speculation or sentiment.

OPEC's keen focus on the quality and reliability of data and research underpins our objectives of promoting sustainable oil market stability for the benefit of producers, consumers and the global economy. This insistence on robust, quality data is more important today than ever, given the need to ensure sustainable future energy pathways for all. These pathways must be driven by realities on the ground, with data as the engine moving this forward.

The success of this year's ASB would not have been possible without the combined efforts of the OPEC Secretariat working in close cooperation with our Member Countries' experts.

I commend the entire Secretariat team for producing yet another excellent flagship publication that meets the highest standards of quality and excellence. I am confident that this year's publication will prove of substantial value to stakeholders across the global industry.

Finally, we hope that this product, through the transparency of its data, will serve as a tool that benefits all stakeholders.

Haitham Al Ghais
Secretary General

The Annual Statistical Bulletin (ASB), one of the flagship publications of the Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC), provides detailed and comprehensive time series data covering all chains of the oil industry, ranging from the exploration to the transportation segments.

The ASB is distinctive in providing comprehensive statistical data on oil and gas activities in each of the 12 OPEC Member Countries: Algeria, Congo, Equatorial Guinea, Gabon, the Islamic Republic of Iran, Iraq, Kuwait, Libya, Nigeria, Saudi Arabia, the United Arab Emirates and Venezuela. In addition, it provides valuable data for many other countries grouped by geographical region, and covers the major economic zones all over the world.

The current version of the ASB comprises data up to the end of 2024, with the following highlights:

- ▶ Total world crude oil production declined in 2024 by 0.77 million barrels/day (mb/d), or 1.0%, compared to 2023. This marked the first annual decrease, following three consecutive annual increases since 2020, reaching an average of 72.58 mb/d. Crude oil production from OPEC Member Countries and non-OPEC oil-producing countries participating in the Declaration of Cooperation (DoC) declined, year-on-year (y-o-y), by 0.57 mb/d, or 2.1%, and 0.78 mb/d, or 5.2%, respectively, while crude production from non-DoC countries rose by 0.58 mb/d, or 1.8%.
- ▶ World oil demand grew by 1.49 mb/d, y-o-y, or 1.5%, to reach an average of 103.84 mb/d in 2024. Oil demand grew, y-o-y, in almost every region, with the largest gains recorded in Non-OECD Asia, China, India, the Middle East, Africa, Latin America and OECD Europe. Oil demand in OPEC Member Countries was firm in 2024, gaining 0.12 mb/d, or 1.3%, y-o-y.
- ▶ World refining capacity expanded in 2024 by 1.04 mb/d, y-o-y, to stand at 103.80 mb/d. The non-OECD region, particularly China, India and the Middle East recorded refining capacity additions. Refinery capacity in the OECD increased for the first year since 2019 by 0.16 mb/d, y-o-y, as additions in OECD Americas were offset by shutdowns in OECD Europe and OECD Asia Pacific. Globally, refinery throughput increased by 0.52 mb/d, or 0.6%, to reach 85.97 mb/d in 2024, driven by higher run rates in OECD Americas and the non-OECD region, including the Middle East, Africa, India and Other Asia.
- ▶ OPEC Member Countries exported an average of 19.01 mb/d of crude oil in 2024, a decrease of 0.70 mb/d, or 3.5%, compared to 2023. Following the same pattern seen in previous years, the bulk of crude oil from OPEC Member Countries — 13.67 mb/d, or 71.9% — was exported to Asia. Considerable volumes of crude oil — about 3.34 mb/d — were also exported to Europe in 2024, compared with 3.62 mb/d recorded in 2023. OECD Americas imported 1.06 mb/d of crude oil from OPEC Member Countries in 2024. Exports of petroleum products from OPEC Member Countries averaged 5.07 mb/d during 2024, up by 0.29 mb/d, or 6.1%, compared to 2023. Imports of petroleum products by OPEC Member Countries averaged 1.53 mb/d in 2024, higher by 0.05 mb/d, or 3.5%, than in 2023.
- ▶ World proven crude oil reserves stood at 1,567 billion barrels (bn b) at the end of 2024, higher by 2 bn b, or 0.1%, compared to 2023 levels. Proven crude oil reserves in OPEC Member Countries remained flat at 1,241 bn b at the end of 2024.

Natural gas flows during 2024

General notes

Definitions

Biofuels: transportation fuels derived from biomass, including fuel ethanol and biodiesel, whereby these fuels are usually blended with petroleum fuels.

Ethanol is an alcohol made by fermenting starch or sugar, notably from (corn) grains and sugar cane. Biodiesel is made primarily from vegetable oils (e.g. palm oil, soybean oil) or from other oily sources (such as waste cooking grease).

Completion: the installation of permanent equipment for the production of oil or gas.

Composite barrel: a consumption weighted average of retail prices (including taxes) of the main groups of petroleum products.

Crude oil: a mixture of hydrocarbons that exists in a liquid phase in natural underground reservoirs and remains liquid at atmospheric pressure after passing through surface separating facilities. For statistical purposes, volumes reported as crude oil include:

- liquids technically defined as crude oil;
- small amounts of hydrocarbons that exist in the gaseous phase in natural underground reservoirs, but which are liquid at atmospheric pressure after being recovered from oil well (casing head) gas in lease separators;
- small amounts of non-hydrocarbons produced with the oil;
- very heavy and extra-heavy crude oils with viscosity less than 10,000 mPa.s (centipoises) at original reservoir conditions.

Distillates: middle distillate type of hydrocarbons; includes products similar to number one and number two heating oils and diesel fuels. These products are used for space heating, diesel engine fuel and electrical power generation.

Dry hole: a well found to be incapable of producing either oil or gas in sufficient quantities to justify completion as an oil or gas well.

Exports of petroleum products: excludes international air and marine bunkers.

Gasoline: a mixture of relatively volatile hydrocarbons, with or without small quantities of additives, that have been blended to form a fuel suitable for use in internal combustion engines; includes gasoline used in aviation.

Geneva I agreement: agreement of January 1972 between some OPEC Member Countries and the major international oil companies, which had the effect of establishing an index for quarterly adjustments of posted crude oil prices on the basis of the arithmetic average of the deviations of the exchange rates of nine major currencies against the US dollar. This was modified to an import-weighted index in 1978, accounting for exchange rates and inflation rate. The present 'modified Geneva I + US dollar' currency basket includes the US dollar, the Chinese yuan, the Euro, the Indian rupee, the Turkish lira, the Japanese yen, the South Korean won, the UK pound, the Vietnamese dong and the Swiss franc.

Kerosene: medium hydrocarbon distillates in the 150° to 280° C distillation range and used as a heating fuel as well as for certain types of internal combustion engines; includes jet fuel, which is a fuel of naphtha or of kerosene type, suitable for commercial or military purposes in aircraft turbine engines.

Natural gas liquids (NGLs): those reservoir gases liquefied at the surface in lease separators, field facilities or gas processing plants. NGLs consist of field condensates and natural gas plant products such as ethane, pentane, propane, butane and natural gasoline.

Natural gas: a mixture of hydrocarbon compounds and small quantities of various non-hydrocarbons existing in the gaseous phase or in solution with oil in natural underground reservoirs at reservoir conditions. The natural gas volumes refer to Standard Conditions of 60° F, 14.73 psia (15.6° C, 760 mm/Hg).

Gross production: the total flow of natural gas from oil and gas reservoirs of associated-dissolved and non-associated gas.

Marketed production: corresponds to gross production, minus the volumes of gas flared or re-injected into fields, minus the shrinkage.

Re-injection: the total volume of natural gas produced from oil and gas completions, processed through gas-processing plants and field facilities, and used for gas lift, gas injection and cycling operations.

Shrinkage: volume shrinkage due to purification and/or extraction of natural gas liquids, gas used as input to GTL plants, lease separators, plant own consumption and any other losses caused by spillage, evaporation, etc.

Non-conventional oil: includes synthetic crude oil from tar sands, oil shale, etc., liquids derived from coal liquefaction (CTL) and gas liquefaction (GTL), hydrogen and emulsified oils (e.g. Orimulsion), non-hydrocarbon compounds added to or blended with a product to modify fuel properties (octane, cetane, cold properties, etc.) e.g. alcohols (methanol, ethanol), ethers (such as MTBE (methyl tertiary butyl ether), ETBE (ethyl tertiary butyl ether), TAME (tertiary amyl methyl ether) or esters (e.g. rapeseed or dimethylester, etc.) and chemical compounds such as TML (tetramethyl lead) or TEL (tetraethyl lead) and detergents.

Oil demand: inland delivery, including refinery fuels and losses, as well as products from gas plants; including international air and marine bunkers as well as direct crude burning.

Oil or gas well: a well completed for the production of oil or gas from one or more zones or reservoirs.

Oil supply: consists of crude oil, natural gas liquids and non-conventional oil production.

OPEC Basket: the OPEC Reference Basket (ORB) price was introduced on 1 January 1987. Up to 15 June 2005, it was the arithmetic average of seven selected crudes. These were: Saharan Blend (Algeria); Minas (Indonesia); Bonny Light (Nigeria); Arab Light (Saudi Arabia); Dubai (United Arab Emirates); Tia Juana Light (Venezuela); and Isthmus (Mexico). As of 16 June 2005, the ORB is calculated as a production-weighted average of the OPEC Basket of crudes. These are: Saharan Blend (Algeria); Girassol (Angola, between January 2007 and December 2023); Oriente (Ecuador, between October 2007 and February 2020); Djeno (Congo, as of June 2018), Zafiro (Equatorial Guinea, as of 25 May, 2017); Rabi Light (Gabon, as of 1 July 2016); Minas (Indonesia, until December 2008, between January 2016 and December 2016); Iran Heavy (IR Iran); Basrah Medium (Iraq; prior to 2022 ORB based on Basrah Light); Kuwait Export (Kuwait); Es Sider (Libya); Bonny Light (Nigeria); Qatar Marine (Qatar, until December 2018); Arab Light (Saudi Arabia); Murban (United Arab Emirates); and Merey (Venezuela).

Output of petroleum products: the total amount of petroleum products produced from refinery input in a given period, excluding refinery fuels.

Petroleum products: products obtained from the processing of crude oil, unfinished oils, NGLs and other hydrocarbon compounds. These include aviation gasoline, motor gasoline, naphtha, kerosene, jet fuel, distillate fuel oil, residual fuel oil, liquefied petroleum gas, lubricants, paraffin wax, petroleum coke, asphalt and other products.

Proven crude oil reserves: the estimated quantities of all liquids statistically defined as crude oil. They consist of those quantities of crude oil which by analysis of geoscience and engineering data can be estimated with reasonable certainty to be commercially recoverable, from a given date forward, from known reservoirs and under defined economic conditions, operating methods and government regulations (source: SPE – Petroleum Resources Management System).

Proven natural gas reserves: are the estimated quantities of all hydrocarbons statistically defined as natural gas. They consist of those quantities of natural gas (associated and non-associated) which by analysis of geoscience and engineering data can be estimated with reasonable certainty to be commercially recoverable, from a given date forward, from known reservoirs and under defined economic conditions, operation methods and government regulations (source: SPE – Petroleum Resources Management System).

Refinery capacity (charge): the input (feed) capacity of the refinery processing facilities.

Refinery capacity (operable): the maximum amount of input to atmospheric distillation units that can be processed in an average 24-hour period.

Refinery throughput: oil input to atmospheric distillation unit.

Residual fuel oil: fuels obtained as liquid still bottoms from the distillation of crude used alone or in blends with heavy liquids from other refinery process operations. These are used for the generation of electric power, space heating, vessel bunkering and various industrial purposes.

Rig: a derrick complete with engine-house and other equipment necessary for drilling oil and gas wells.

Well (exploratory and development): a hole drilled for the purpose of finding or producing crude oil or natural gas, or providing services related to the production of crude oil and natural gas.
